BOARD OF GOVERNORS HEARS REPORTS ON CLUB PROGRESS

Authorizes Appointment of OPC
"Observers" in Key Spots
of the World

A business-packed session kept the Board of Governors busily working until 1 A.M. on October 11 as Officers, Committee Chairmen and Board members heard reports on past progress and drafted plans for new projects. President LOUIS P. LOCHNER told the meeting that the Committee on New Club Quarters, which he temporarily heads, is at the point of presenting final suggestions and recommendations.

LOCHNER praised the work of his Committees, and said he had never worked with a more cooperative group. Discussion was then begun on a motion for the President to appoint "representatives" or "observers" who, as Members of the Club, would keep the Club informed on any matter of interest to foreign correspondents in their areas. It was decided to limit the functions of those selected to observing and reporting, and the President was authorized to make the appointments. Those who will be asked to serve as official observers in various foreign capitals include The Bulletin's Special Correspondents.

With all bills paid, the Club's bank balance on October 1 totaled $13,577.90, Treasurer LEO BRANHAM reported. This included $8,577.90 in a Chemical Trust Company checking account, and $5,000 in the Bowery Savings Bank.

Disbursements for September totaled $2,138.16. Receipts from dues, initiation fees, Bulletin advertising and various Club functions totaled $1,483.32, leaving a deficit of $654.84. Receipts from April 1, 1950 -- the start of the Club's fiscal year -- to October 1, 1950, totaled $18,354.45. Disbursements for the same period were $16,034.57. That leaves an excess of income over expenses of $2,319.85.

The Board of Governors also authorized an exchange of privileges between the Overseas Press Club and the Manila Overseas Press Club.

A preliminary report by HAL LEHRMAN, Chairman of the Lecture Bureau Committee, indicated that the Committee was withholding concrete recommendations until questionnaires mailed to all Members had been studied.

Spurred by a motion introduced by JOHN DALY, the Board spent considerable time discussing ways and means to improve and expedite editorial production of The Bulletin. It was decided that the Bulletin Committee should be constituted as an Editorial Board, with each member serving in rotation as supervisory editor of succeeding Bulletin issues.

THE OVERSEAS TICKER : LONDON DATELINE: -- (Special to The Bulletin) -- Ned Russell, the New York Herald Tribune's London bureau chief for the last few years, will be leaving within several weeks to assume new duties as special writer for the Trib's Washington bureau. He will be succeeded in London by Joe Newman, who will come here from Berlin...Two other correspondents who have shifted recently from assignments in Germany to posts in London are the UP's Jack Meehan and Joe Fleming...Recent visitor here from Prague, where he's UP bureau chief, is Russ Jones... Among the visiting firemen who've come through London recently on visits from the U.S. are: Martha Gellhorn, on a Satevepost assignment; Tim Costello, operator of the Third Avenue bistro (who was greeted here by several transplanted patrons, including Fritz Opper); and a plane-load of newsmen on a TWA London-to-Frankfurt junket...NBC's MERRILL (RED) MUELLER has a brief but completely-in-character spot in the new British movie hit, "Seven Days to Noon." MUELLER plays himself, in front of an NBC mike, broadcasting a play-by-play description of an imaginary evacuation of London forced by a crazed scientist's threat to set off a stolen atom-bomb on noon of a certain day...Life's George Caturani has completed his assignment as bureau chief in London, and returned to the U.S., where he will head the Time-Life International Foreign News Desk. He will be succeeded here by Gene Framer, last in London to cover the 1948 Olympics... (DAVE RICHARDSON) Word from SYDNEY MOSELEY is that he will shortly launch a pocket-sized, subscription-only trade sheet called For Editors Only. He says "I want to fulfill an old dream of mine -- and incidentally the dream of every pressman in the world -- to be able to say what he pleases without the shadow of the boss looming over his shoulder."

ALLYN BAUM, PHOTOG,
ARRESTED BY POLICE
IN BERLIN'S RED ZONE

As he was trying to photograph foxholes dug by Communists near the boundary between the American and Soviet sectors of Berlin on October 10, ALLYN Z. BAUM, of Acme Newspictures was arrested by East German police. With BAUM was his driver. The arrests were reported to West Berlin police by witnesses in the Soviet zone. It was thought that the pair accidentally crossed the border, which is not marked at the point where the incident occurred.

At press time, American liaison officers were attempting to obtain the release of BAUM and his driver. It was recalled that the photographer was arrested in September, 1948, for trying to take pictures of the same Berlin area and released after 28 hours.

EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER IS A
"RAVING POLITICAL OPTIMIST"
AFTER SURVEY OF EUROPE

from a tour of seven European nations. Speaking on "Challenge and Decision in the Marshall Plan Countries" -- the title taken from his forthcoming book -- MOWRER said he had gone to Europe to see whether "we had any dependable allies."

His conclusion was that, yes, America does have many potential allies but that the U.S. must participate "on the ground" if these allies are to develop necessary strength. Solution to the problem, MOWRER said, rests with increased arms and military aid. "It is impossible to live normally or improve economic conditions," he insisted, "without having some security against aggression."

In Britain MOWRER discovered a hard core of support for American aims, with about 75 percent of the people convinced they should stand behind us. Winston Churchill he described as a "man in a hurry". His informants told him that the wartime Prime Minister wants to die as P.M. "He's like an old firehorse," MOWRER said, "who wants to be around when the fire's on."

MOWRER arrived in Belgium when the royal riots broke out. He was forced to appeal to Ambassador Robert Murphy for a car to take him from the taxi-less railway station. The Belgians, he said, would agree to becoming our allies on condition that strong French and Dutch divisions protect them on each side. He said he considered Holland the weakest link in our military alliance in Europe.

Berlin, according to MOWRER, is in an indefensible position, but the West Germans do not want to fight. In France, MOWRER talked with Foreign Minister Rene Plevin, who told him that the French could and would put troops in the field if sufficient equipment were supplied by the U.S.

"Greece is a country to make your heart feel good," MOWRER declared. The Greeks are used to living dangerously, but nevertheless are doing "less grousing" than any other people he encountered. "They can be counted on for almost anything", he said. He also reported on conversations he had in Switzerland, and in Italy with Count Sforza.

GUEST BOOK: President LOCHNER introduced several guests, among them India's Santha Rau and Faubion Bowers, both of whom addressed a Roundtable session recently...Members at the meeting included DOROTHY OMANSKY, DANIEL VAN ACKER, ADELE NATHAN, PAULINE FREDERICK, WILLIAM P. GRAY, CHARLES ROBBINS, BILL LEE and MARTIN SHERIDAN.
